

Maricopa Association of Governments
2007 Regional Human Services Summit
"Innovations in Planning"

THURSDAY
JUNE 7, 2007
8:30 am–1:30 pm

Arizona State University
at the West Campus,
La Sala, Rooms A and B
4701 W. Thunderbird Rd.
Glendale, Arizona 85306

KEYNOTE SPEAKER:
RICK LOWE

Purpose: to engage the key community stakeholders in a dynamic dialogue about forming innovative partnerships to create meaningful change in the community.

Outcome: development of a report that provides research on each issue with corresponding projects or strategies and a contact list for people who support that project. This will provide a springboard for agencies wanting to implement innovative human services projects.

Who Should Attend: community stakeholders with expertise and interest, Maricopa Association of Governments (MAG) committee members, and students will come together to share ideas and develop partnerships to create change.

Proudly presented by the Maricopa Association of Governments with support from the Arizona Council of Human Service Providers, Arizona Public Service, Arizona State University's College of Human Services, the Arizona Department of Economic Security, SRP and ValueOptions of Arizona.

Partner with community leaders to make a difference!
Be a part of the solutions—make your voice heard!

Keynote Speaker: Rick Lowe

Rick Lowe is the founder of Project Row Houses, located in a historically significant and culturally charged neighborhood in Houston, Texas. In 1993 Mr. Lowe established this agency to bring together the arts and social action. This neighborhood of 22 redeveloped shotgun style homes are known for their arts, cultural education and social service programs. The Young Mothers Residential Program and the After-School Arts Education Program provide community services while celebrating African American history and culture.

Mr. Lowe has presented internationally about these efforts and has received many awards. These include the Brandywine Lifetime Achievement Award in 2006, the Heniz Award in 2002 and the American Institute of Architecture Keystone Award in 2000. In addition, Mr. Lowe was a Loeb Fellow at Harvard University from September 2001 until June 2002. He combines creativity with social justice in an attempt to address social issues holistically. He says, “We can approach our lives as artists, each and every one of us. It’s a choice people have. If you choose to, you can make every action a creative act.” Mr. Lowe’s presentation will offer inspiration and direction for how this region can work together collaboratively and creatively to create positive social change.
